Our goal: to evaluate, educate, and motivate our workers to achieve a proactive safety climate. At Sullivan and Merritt Constructors, we believe our employees are our most valuable assets. Because of this, we are very committed to maintaining a Health and Safety Program that offers information and guidance to every employee.

With our clients' help, we constantly scrutinize our safety performance, and understand that our safety record is a reflection of our ongoing commitment to maintaining a safe work environment. We are committed to providing the best-quality training, a comprehensive and well designed safety program, and to making job site safety our first priority.

There is no job so important that we do not take the time to complete it safely and in a manner that reflects our commitment to the environment and to the health and safety of our employees.
